

Élodie Rousset - President of the French Chiropractic Association (AFC)

French chiropractor, Élodie Rousset has been practising for 15 years in a multidisciplinary health centre in Lyon. A graduate of the Institut Franco-Européen de Chiropraxie (IFEC), she completed her training with a university diploma in the diagnosis of pain in the neuro-musculo-skeletal system and has a particular interest in paediatrics.

She has been involved in the development and recognition of chiropractic in France for 10 years within the Association Française de Chiropraxie (AFC) and has been its President since last year.

Working closely with institutional stakeholders, her role within the AFC has enabled her to play an active role in improving the status of the profession in France. She also aims to improve the image of chiropractic in the eyes of the public and to strengthen the legitimacy and integration of the profession in the health system. To this end, it is committed to promoting a practice that combines clinical expertise with an approach based on scientific evidence.
