

Dr Jake Cooke, MChiro, MScAPP, DACNB, FEAC, FRCC.

Dr Jake Cooke is a diplomate of the American Chiropractic Neurology Board and has a Masters in musculoskeletal neuroscience. He's the Chairman for the European Academy of Chiropractic's neurology group. His focus is on chronic pain and dizziness/balance disorders.

Neurology lies at the heart of movement, balance, posture and pain. Jake's goal is to make neurology simple and useful, not only for the weird and wonderful cases, but for every patient you see in practice. Neurology doesn't need to be a complex subject, full of hard to remember words and pathways. It can be taught in a way that is easy to learn and apply.
