

55 years old, from Denmark.

A graduate of the AECC from 1996. Holds a Master degree in Rehabilitation from the University of Southern Denmark, 2004 and PhD from the University of Aalborg, 2013, which focused on generalized hyperalgesia in chronic back pain and experimental pain models.

Practiced for five years in private practice in Ireland and Denmark and since then employed at the Hospital of Fyn and later the University Hospital of Southern Denmark.

For the past 24 years full time hospital employment in varying roles: As a clinician in inter-professional spine teams, as an educator and examiner in charge of the hospital based part of pre-graduate clinical training of chiropractic students, as chief chiropractor in the departmental management, as initiator and champion of the Danish chiropractic hospital specialist residency programme, and as a researcher and head of research.